

Going Into All the World Ministries

Blessing the Nations

In you all nations shall be blessed

Jay & Valerie Ranton

November, 2016

Heroes

George Müller to me is a hero of our faith. He had orphanages all over Great Britain during the 1800's. He exercised his faith, cared for, and loved over 10,000 children in his life. His 117 schools educated over 120,000 children. He followed his heart and his call, and got the job done.

Recently God showed me something about my favorite George Müller story. One morning he had all the children sit down for breakfast and he prayed "Lord thank you for the food we are about to receive." The only problem with this was, there was no food in the house! None. He was thanking God by faith that they were about to receive. As he said 'amen' there was a knock on the door from a milk wagon driver who had broken down in front of the house. The driver offered the milk to the home instead of it going bad. As they were loading the milk into the house, a baker came and said "God woke me early today to bake bread for you."

God showed me that George was fulfilling his call, the milk man was being thoughtful, but the baker was being a hero. This man heard God in the middle of the night and was obedient to get up out of bed and start baking bread. He heard, listened and did what he was called to do.

How many times does God ask us to do something that is uncomfortable and we ignore His "nudge" or His voice because it is inconvenient? To be honest I can't even count how many times I was supposed to wake up to pray, or say something to someone on the street but I wanted to sleep a bit more or walk by without embarrassment. I wasn't the hero that God wanted me to be.

You, the partners of this ministry, are heroes. So often you answer the call and send a check, hit a PayPal button or pray for us. You mean so much to us. God showed me that we have a lot of heroes attached to GIATWM which enable us to love and care for His children. In Matthew 25 we can see that He calls you righteous because you were doing it for Him. You are a hero!

You are a hero because we have enough to send the House of Destiny children to a good school. You are a hero because Nery can go to the hospital and treat the scars on his body from a fire. You are a hero because Kendrik can take art classes. You are a hero because there is food on the table. The seed you sow into this ministry is precious and we value you, the sower. Valerie and I pray there is no form a lack in your house this holiday season, that you would have all you need in every area.

Thank you for being a hero to us and the children of House of Destiny.

A few months ago, we received a little boy with an extreme birth defect. As I write this we are preparing to have exams done that will help the doctors develop a plan to create a bladder for Eswin and to repair his kidneys and tubes. Eswin needs major miracles in his life and we know a God that is still in the miracle business. Please pray for Eswin and the doctors who will be working with him.

Eswin (4 yrs) and his baby sister, Iris (1 yr)

Josue graduated from Kindergarten and is reading.

Jay Update:

I am doing fine. Next month I will have cat scans done on my liver to see how the medication is working. We know that God has made me wholly whole and His will is that I have a long life and He is willing and able to show us His salvation.

Lizandro turned 2 last month. His brother Josue, in blue, had never been to birthday party before coming to House of Destiny.

We have been actively looking for land to purchase so we can expand and do more. We want the perfect location and only God can do that, so please pray with us that we have wisdom, the land becomes available and we have what we need to receive it.